

Miss Kong Davy was born on July 18, 1985 in Phnom Penh, Cambodia. She was born in a family who could afford for her education and living. Presently, she is working at a private company namely Phnom Penh Special Economic Zone as a Legal Assistant and Assistant to Company Managing Director. Her task mainly focuses on Cambodian law consultation and analysis. She is now a member of SSEAYP International Cambodia and an Education Outreach Project Coordinator for SSEAYP06 as well.

Before that, she was employed as a Program Assistant at National Democratic Institute for International Affairs (NDI) for more than a year in which capacity she was involved in Commune Council Candidate Debate program for which she assisted the Country Director and Senior Program Manager in translating documents and organizing training and debate forums as well as other related responsibilities. She also assisted Senior Program Officer and Program Officer in a lot of translation and interpretation work related to election monitoring, voter registration audit, political party poll agent training and women's leadership caucus program. She also has experience as an international election observer in Commune Council and National Assembly elections.

In 2006 she worked as a freelance interpreter at CCG Translation Service and as a private English teacher at Shinkibou Center. Further, she was also elected as a Vice President of IFL Debate Club and as a member of Student Associations at Royal University of Law and Economics in 2005. After finishing her high school, Davy started her own career by opening a small class at home and taught English to some of adult students and children.

Davy was also a Youth Ambassador, Cambodian Participating Youth (CPY) of Ship for South East Asian Youth Program (SSEAYP) in 2006 and was selected as an Outstanding Youth or CPY of the Year among her team because of her strong commitment, leadership, creativeness and activeness throughout the program. Davy was also selected from her Law School to join JAMINE Seminar in Japan to discuss and learn the differences between Cambodian and Japanese Law in Nagoya University. In 2004 during her teenage life, she passed her competition interview from Cambodian Youth Department of Ministry of Education Youth and Sports to participate in Sunburst Youth Camp program in Singapore.

Concerning with her education, Davy is doing her Master Course at Royal University of Law and Economics (RULE), majoring in Private Law. She earned her law degree from RULE in 2006 and in 2007 she got her Bachelor of Arts in English (for Translation and Interpretation) from Royal University of Phnom Penh, Institute of Foreign Languages (IFL). Her teenage life time was sacrificed to study and self-reliance though her family is earning enough for her. The only situation she's never forgotten in her life was the day that she was seriously sick due to her stupid way of study. Since then she has realized that being healthy and knowing about the right way to do things worth more than being too sacrificed.

In her free time, Davy likes to participate in social and volunteer activities with her group and friends and whoever prefers help bring prosperity to her nation. Interestingly, she and her fellows have led one meaningful project called Education Outreach, a project winning 3rd place among ASEAN countries and Japan during SSEAYP program in 2006, in Takeo and Pursat province and also recently participated in this project in Sihanouk Ville with SYC members.
